Wainwright Economics (H.C. Wainwright & Co. Economics, Inc./HCWE) is an independent economic research service located in the Boston metropolitan area.

Wainwright Research

Wainwright Economics supports investment professionals and high net-worth individuals in formulating investment strategies through extensive asset market research, analysis and forecasting. The research is made available to clients through monthly and quarterly research publications, interactive conference calls, on-site presentations and consulting services. Wainwright's unique empirical research and rigorous analytical methods are based on the concept "Using Markets to Forecast Markets" or UMF²M. UMF²M reveals the circular correlation between the past and future behavior of key economic and financial indicators. The research, reports and services provide rigorous quantitative analysis of predictive relationships in:

- Asset allocation
- Fixed income and equity performance
- Industry rotation
- The economy
- International markets

Wainwright Reports and Services

Monthly and quarterly reports are available to clients at www.hcwe.com as well as via email and in hard copy through the U.S. mail. In addition, Wainwright sponsors an interactive conference call on the first Thursday of each month. These interactive forums provide a discussion of recent and current research, enabling clients to ask questions and get timely answers. And finally, Wainwright consults with clients directly by scheduling on-site visits or briefings over the phone to address their specific research and analysis needs.
